Over 7,000 people were at the ball park yeserday afternoon, and 6,900 of them were delighted at the splendid victory of the home club, while the odd hundred or so mourned because they were from Philadelphia, and the defeat of their pets was as unexpected as it was humiliating. To judge from the confident manner of several Quaker baseball reporters before the game they anticipated an easy thing for Philadelphia, and the changes rung on their countenances were most marked. It was a glorious victory, and if ever a team played hard to win the Senators did yesterday. But one error marred their work, and that was a wide throw to first by Hassamaer. The club will not play many such games this

Clean and sharp fielding, pretty stickwork, and rare judgment in running bases were features of the Washington's play. Despite the time-honored hoodoo of music and the pre-sentation to Manager Schmelz of a magnifi-cent floral horseshoe before the game opened, the home team played fine ball and fairly earned the laurels. The Phillies made a game carned the laurels. The Phillies made a game fight, but they were up against hot stuff and naturally were scorched.

Leaving aside the clever work of the team as a whole, the pitching of Esper and the allround work of Cartwright were the scintillating features of the contest. Esper had an entire new set of curves, which he used with great effect, and he let the heavy-hitting Quakers down for but seven safe hits. But Cartwright shared the honers with Esper, and the big first basemen made a decided impression of the most favorable nature. He saved Joyce, Ward, and Hassamaer errors by his masterly handling of badly thrown balls, and at the bat he was a giant, making three hits at the bat he was a giant, making three hits out of four times at the bat. He secred one run and drove in two others, and all in all made a most successful debut.

made a most successful debut.

Another good point in the play of the local team was the sharp fielding of Abbey Tebeau, Sellach and Joyce when men were on bases. Both Cross and Allen were tagged in attempting to reach third base ahead of throws from the outfield. "Scrappy" Joyce on each occasion did not forget to touch the runner, and his by no means light touch will be remembered by the two professions. bered by the two unfortunates. Abbey also had a good eye for the ball, and lifed out two safe hits, which both counted. Tebeau's re-cord at the best was rather odd, he making a single the first time up and then striking out three times in succession. Ward and Mc-Guire both played good ball, but were weak at the bat, their usual strong forte. "Boaring Bill" Hassamaer seemed nervous at short, and on one occasion lost his head, but his error fortunately did not prove costly.

For the Phillies Delehanty and Clements did the best hitting, while Hamilton, Allen and Cross led in fielding. Weyhing pitched a clever game, but he could not prevent a bunching of hits when the Senstors needed runs. The only errors made by the visitors were two wild throws by Weyhing and Clements. Three times the attempt to steal second

Ward had the credit of being the first man

Ward had the credit of being the first man to face the music, and his grounder to Allen resulted in an out at first. It was three out and no damage done for both sides in the opening inning, while the only man to reach a base in the second was Teleau, who singled, but was caught in the effort to purloin second. In the third Selbach made the second his for the game, stole second, and went around to third on Clements' wild throw. Selbach was left on Ward's out at first. The Phillies were retired in painful regu-

The Phillies were retired in painful regularity for three innings, and in the fourth Hamilton started off with a single, but Hallman's effort to hit to right field resulted in a pop fly, which Esper captured and completed a double play by throwing Hamilton out at first, the latter having started down to second when the ball was hit. In the first, Carl when the ball was hit. In the fifth Cartwright drew appliance by hitting safely after two were out, but was left. In their half the Quakers came very near breaking the ice, and they would have done so but for clever fielding. Cross drove a long double to left center and tried to stretch it into a three-bagger, but Abbey fielded the ball to Tebeau, who in turn propelled the sphere to Joyce, and Mr. Cross was caught a foot away from the bag. Directly afterwards Clements singled, but was forced by Weyhing, and the danger was

It was in the sixth that the first run of the and Joyce's out, and scampered home when Abbey drove a safe liner to right center. The visitors tied the score in the seventh on Dele-

ach. Cartwright began the eighth with a drive to Cartwright began the eighth with a drive to right center for three bases and scored on Hassamaer's single to right. The latter was doubled up on Ward's fly to Hamilton, which the latter caught after a long forward run. With the score 2 to 1 in their favor the Senators opened the last inning with Joyce at the bat and the doughty captain drove a liner over Weyhing's head. Abbey attempted to bunt and the bail rolled safe. A wild throw by Weyhing moved up Joyce and Abbey a base. Esper retired on an infield, fly but McGuire was purposely given first on bails. With the bases all occupied Tebeau struck out, but Cartwright pounded outla single to left, sending in Joyce and Abbey. Hassamaer was retired at first.

Delehanty began for the Quakers with a single, went around to third on two outs and was allowed to steal home, McGuire not going up behind the plate. Clements ended the game on his foul fly to McGuire, who caught the hall right at the heart of the rights.

THE DAY IN WALL STREET.

lation in the share market to-day was decidedly erratic, rallies of reactions succeeding each other in rapid order, but owing to the prevailing duliness the fluctuations as a rule kept within narrow limits. Most of the business, especially during the morning, was done in the Industrials, while St. Paul led the rail-as the purchasing orders had been filled, i Delaware and Hudson breaking 1½, C. C. C. C. and St. L. 1½, and the other shares traded in ½ and ½ per cent, the latter New York Central, which was depressed by rumors of a trunk line war of rates and of a reduction of wages on some of the roads in the system. Both of these reports were emphatically denied, and in the later dealings the stock recovered all but ½ of the decline.

Sugar, which had risen ¾ in the early trading, fell off ¾ on a small bear raid. The lower figures for this stock attracted buyers, and the story to the effect that the redned sugar will receive more protection than is given in the existing bill was revived, with the result that an advance of ¼ was made, of which I per cent, was lost in the later dealings, the closing being at ¾ advance on the day. Shortly after 11 o'clock the general list received ¾ and 1 per cent. New Jersey Central leading the decline, which was, however, checked before noon, and a sharp upward turn recorded, in which Edison Electric was most prominent, scoring a gain of 1½. Chicago Gas. which had lost ¾ of the contract of the contract of the chicago Gas. which had lost ¾ of Chicago Gas. checked before noon, and a sharp upward turn recorded, in which Edison Electric was most prominent, scoring a gain of 1½. Chicago Gas, which had lost ½ of the early advance, rose 1½, and Sugar 1 per cent. During the early part of the afternoon the industrials were quite strong. Cordage common advancing 1½; Tobacco, 1½, and the rest of the group a fraction except Cordage preferred, which made some rapid and big turns, selling off 3½ to 43, the next sales being at 47 and 48, respectively, then following a break to 43 again, with a final rally to 45, making a net loss of 1½ per cent. Sugar rallied ½ and then lost 1 per cent. Sugar rallied ½ and then lost 1 per cent. Chicago Gas reacting ½ and Cordage ½, the railway list being well held and during the last hour improving gradually, closing fairly firm, but very irregular, compared with yesterday's final figures. The changes are mostly fractional, but advances are established of 1½ per cent, in New Jersey Central, New York Central, Lack and Western and Louisville and New Albany. Norfolk and Southern shows a gain of 8 per cent, on the last previous sale. Westingbouse Electric soid at 78, against 40½, the last preceding sale. sold at 78, against 40%, the last preceding
